I discovered new tools and concepts for the formation of competencies. It became clearer how to describe them for their own disciplines.

In the development of educational programs.

During teaching and scientific-methodical activity.

Implement pedagogical and social competencies in the training of future economists in the process of business education.

In the creation of various activities, cases, etc., as well as in the analysis and evaluation of learning outcomes. Thank you for a meaningful seminar.

In the process of teaching the discipline "Methods of vocational training" and "Economic didactics".

Thank you for an interesting topic, the professionalism of teachers and translators!

When conducting lectures, seminars and compiling methodological materials and educational documentation.

On the basis of the material covered at the event, it is possible to develop introductory lectures on academic disciplines that at the same time will cover current data, practical advice from participants, which can be reformatted and redirected to students and the need for their competency training..

It is interesting about dual education, I want to introduce this for my disciplines
